Second Man Arrested After Wounding Of One In Running Gun Fight With Police

George Paton, alleged to be the man who escaped after Charles Brown was wounded in a running gun fight with police early this morning, was arrested by police at 1.30 this afternoon. The gun fight took place when police were investigating the breaking and entering of the Crystal Spring Soda Water Company plant, 1244 Richardson Street, shortly before 2.

Paton was taken into custody by Detectives Louis Callon and Angus Munro in a Shelbourne Street house after being the object of a widespread search by Greater Victoria and provincial police since the shooting.

Paton said he would appear in court tomorrow morning to answer a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft, and possibly another charge.

Paton is alleged to have broken into the soft drinks company plant with Brown and to have exchanged revolver shots with police when disturbed while preparing to blow open the safe.

SURRENDERED
Detectives Callon, Munro, W. P. Richards and Fearon Woodburn, and Constable Wm. Knowles, were about to surround the building after seeing the two men inside. Attempting to escape, Brown, who is proprietor of the Bridge view Hotel, Johnson and Store Streets, was "winged" in the upper right arm by a shot fired by Detective Munro. He surrendered immediately, but the second man escaped, jumping over a five-foot fence on the west side of the plant.

In getting away, Paton, who is said to have exchanged four or five shots with the officers, broke several boards on the fence.

He was heard to grunt while going over the fence, and police thought he had been hit in the gun-play. "This was not so."

Ordered to stop or they would shoot, Brown is said to have kept running after coming out of the building. Munro, who fired five shots in the skirmish, stopped Brown with a bullet through the front of his right arm close to his chest.

FLESH WOUND
Bleeding a great deal, Brown was taken to Jubilee Hospital where the bullet was removed from what was described as a flesh wound. He was kept under guard at the hospital and just before 10 this morning was brought to the police station to appear in court on a charge of breaking and entering with intent to commit theft. He was remanded until Saturday.

Arriving from hospital in pyjamas and bathrobe, Brown changed into a dark brown suit and brown silk shirt. Still under heavy guard he was brought to the court room appearing white and shaky.

Holding the railing of the prisoners' box for support, Brown said he would like to reserve his plea after the charge was read, and asked immediately for bail.

"I don't know what I want to do yet—I'm feeling pretty sick," he told the court.

Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison asked that a substantial bail be

Sloan Expected To End Hearing On Strike Today

Chief Justice Gordon McG. Sloan, hearing the union and operators' cases so that he may make non-binding recommendations to them in an effort to end the 16-day-old strike of 35,000 British Columbia woodworkers, is expected to conclude the discussions this afternoon.

The operators, represented by Stuart Research Service Ltd., concluded their presentation to the Chief Justice at a camera session at the Courthouse here this morning.

At 12.30 the hearings were adjourned until 2 this afternoon when International Woodworkers of America officers will complete their summary of evidence.

The current hearing is the third effort by Chief Justice Sloan to bring the strikers and the operators together.

It is expected that the Chief Justice will present his findings to the two parties this week.

At the morning session the Chief Justice heard George Brown, Portland, Ore., director of organization for the I.W.A., who explained conditions of wages, hours of work and union security in camps and sawmills in Washington and Oregon as well as elsewhere in the U.S.

At the luncheon adjournment no statement of progress was made.

It is considered unlikely any report of the progress of the hearings will be made until the Chief Justice makes his announcement.

Harold Pritchett, I.W.A. district president, who heads the woodworkers' delegation to the hearings, and other delegates, with the operators' representatives are expected to return to Vancouver tonight if the hearings are completed this afternoon.

Mr. Brown explained at the hearing this morning that a 40-hour week had been elected among fir operators in the Pacific northwest states following a strike by A.F.L. lumberworkers in 1935. Following that date it was extended to include other workers connected with sawmills and logging operators which had not been brought under the 1935 agreement.

While noting the different cost of living standards in the U.S. and Canada, Mr. Brown said the minimum wage in the fir industry in the U.S. was $1.10 per hour. This followed a raise of 15 cents an hour effected Nov. 1, 1945, and a 5-cent an hour increase made this year.

Pine workers, operating under a different contract, received $1.02½ an hour but they expected to receive the 5-cent an hour boost which had been granted the fir operators this year.

Three Siamese "carrying French arms" were killed in the affray, it said.

Clergy Won't Oppose Games Sunday If Not In Church Time

Clergymen of the Victoria area, meeting with the city parks committee Wednesday afternoon, stated they did not oppose of Sunday baseball or other games but because it is the trend of the times they would offer no serious objection, Ald. D. D. McTavish, parks committee chairman, said following the meeting.

At the meeting with the parks committee were Dr. Hugh McLeod, representing the Victoria presbytery of the United Church; Dr. W. W. McPherson, Ministerial Association representative; Rev. W. L. McKay, Lord's Day Alliance; and Maj. Alan McInnes of the Salvation Army.

The ministers, however, made it clear they would fight any move which permitted games to be played during hours set for church or Sunday school services. They cited instances where games being played on Victoria High School grounds had interfered with services at the Baptist Church across the road. They said they felt it not too much to ask "that at least two hours a week be devoted to the spiritual instruction of children."

Because of the absence of Ald. J. M. Worthington, decision on Sunday games was deferred to the next parks committee meeting. Ald. McTavish said.

In the meantime the police and fire departments were given permission to stage a baseball game at Athletic Park next Sunday with proceeds going to the Solarium.

OTTAWA (CP)—The Prices Board today announced price ceiling increases on men's and boys' "suits, overcoats, fine pants, work pants and woolen sportswear" ranging from 5.5 to 9 per cent, effective on goods manufactured after June 1.

The board said the increases were authorized to offset "partially" the effect of increased costs to manufacturers because of recent elimination or reduction of subsidies on cotton and wool and wage increases recently authorized by war labor boards in the textile industry.

No price change is authorized on garments in present stocks, the board added.

The increases authorized apply both to manufacturers and retail stores.

AND WHY NOT?

NO SPECIFIC INSTRUMENT AT PRES-ent guarantees to Canadians the right of habeas corpus, freedom of religion, expression, press and radio. These rights are taken for granted. They are the basic roots from which our democratic processes derive their sustenance. But this is not enough for Mr. John Diefenbaker, Progressive Conservative member of the House of Commons for the Saskatchewan riding of Lake Centre; he would put upon the statute books of this Dominion a categorical and invulnerable provision to stand for all time. His original idea was the "enshrining" of those rights in the citizenship bill recently adopted by Parliament. Minister of Justice St. Laurent did not concur because, he argued, they were already "embedded in the common law" through Magna Carta, the Petition of Right, the Bill of Settlement, and habeas corpus. The government nevertheless promised an all-party parliamentary committee to consider the Saskatchewan member's desire—probably for action next session.

At no time since the end of the First Great War has there been any doubt about Canada's status in the British Commonwealth of Nations. But at the Imperial Conference of 1926 a committee—over which Lord Balfour presided—produced what The Times of London described as a "great state document" defining the precise position and mutual relation of Great Britain and the Dominions as follows: "They are autonomous communities within the British Empire, equal in status, in no way subordinate one to another in any aspect of their domestic or external affairs, though united by a common allegiance to the Crown, and freely associated with members of the British Commonwealth of Nations." Five years later this categorical understanding was formally legalized in the Statute of Westminster—which, of course, is the final confirmation of previous custom and practice.

It may be stretching the point somewhat, perhaps, to say that if the resolution of 1926 was thought desirable to clarify the "position and mutual relation" of one part of the Empire to another—and later to give it constitutional authority—it is surely the part of wisdom to breathe new force into a fundamental assurance of the common law by a specific enactment to anticipate the imponderable and unpredictable of a changed and continually changing world.

Moreover, since he was a member of the Balfour committee of 1926, and because of his initiative in this regard, Mr. Mackenzie King is not likely to offer any serious objection to the writing of the specific Bill of Rights which Mr. Diefenbaker considers an essential to the preservation of Canadian democracy. Not that the present or any previous government at Ottawa has violently transgressed against this common British heritage in normal times. But none knows what the future holds in store. Canadians in the mass, therefore, prefer a modernized anchor.

HEALTHY CRITICISM

ALDERMEN WHO EXPLAINED THE NE-cessity of first dealing with Greater Victoria amalgamation from the point of view of joining Saanich's inner wards to the city presented reasonable argument for that course on Monday. But no harm can have arisen from the criticism voiced by another member of the City Council who objected to the delay in bringing the entire urban community under one administration. Little by little, the city and surrounding municipalities are moving toward co-ordinated service in different fields. Schools have come under the one metropolitan board. Health agencies in Esquimalt and Victoria are now under unified direction. Circumstances will eventually force a similar course in other departments. But it would be more encouraging if aldermen did not have to complain about delay at the top, where leadership should be born, not thrust by a public restive with the tardy pace set by the elected representatives.

HUMAN RIGHTS

THE MATERIALIZATION OF THE "GEN-eral principle" that provisions for basic human rights be included in international treaties—particularly peace treaties—as recommended by a committee to the United Nations Economic and Social Council this week, will necessarily be a slow process. Basic human rights conceived by citizens of a country with a high standard of living and wide political freedom may be little more than a glittering goal for the depressed peoples of nations which are emerging from advanced medievalism. The establishment of that objective, however, will be seen as one of the more hopeful developments in a world to which the intermingling of people through war has shown the possibility of its achievement. Moreover, the provision for such rights will be generally recognized as essential if an age of peace and security is to be gained.

In the Four Freedoms he announced during the war, the late President Roosevelt laid down the broad lines on which an international code for the benefit of the common man could be created. The principles he enunciated are seen as concrete possibilities on this continent and in other parts of the world where the concepts of liberty are matched by productive potentials that could furnish the material things from which basic rights could draw their sustenance. They are, however, obscured by the stark necessity of securing food in some areas where personal freedom yields to the compulsions of avoiding death from starvation. There is scant opportunity for the expression of the principle of human rights when the more compelling demands are those which arise from hunger.

In the world as it is today little more than a blueprint can be drawn of a happier civilization when justice and reason shall prevail. But if that time is to be reached, if an era of decency is to be attained, those countries which possess the power to furnish the necessities of life to the currently underprivileged must lose no opportunity to provide succor. They cannot, through internal disruption, reduce production without compounding chaos. They cannot expect appreciation of human rights in a world of scarcity in which the jungle law of survival predominates. That is one of the longer term views the "have" countries must keep in mind if they are to avert global menace from the "have nots." It is a responsibility which falls to them through their relatively wide enjoyment of basic human rights which all must be given in the interests of security.

FULFILLING PROMISES

ANOTHER STRIKING MANIFESTATION of its foresight and progressiveness was given to the people of the province with yesterday's announcement from the British Columbia Electric Railway Company that it had awarded contracts valued at $4,400,000 for development on the Bridge River hydro project. That the preliminary construction entailed will be done entirely by British Columbia concerns is a matter for considerable gratification, particularly in view of the fact the undertakings represent 330,000 man days of labor—a substantial contribution to employment of those who are seeking gainful occupations in this part of Canada.

This, of course, is another step in the unfolding plan for major capital expenditure announced by the B.C. Electric in its post-war program. Promises presented when hostilities were still raging are being fulfilled as quickly as conditions permit. No sounder assurance of its confidence in the province could be given by a corporation which has not only helped to attract outside capital for domestic development through its "Business is Moving to B.C." campaign, but is showing the way by extensive expenditure itself.

The benefits of this expansion, it will be readily understood, are not limited to the immediate jobs made available by the new contracts. They extend to the industries which will be encouraged to take root and grow in a field rendered productive by the ultimate provision of adequate electric power. Once again the B.C. Electric, based solidly on the sound foundations laid by its pioneers, and expanding under the vigorous enterprise of its recently promoted younger element, is pointing the way to the attainment of a provincial industrial development whose potentialities are widely recognized.

VALUABLE COMPETITION

PATRONS OF CANADA'S MOVING PIC-ture theatres, and that virtually covers the entire population, may note with some interest the opinion expressed in Victoria by George Brown, publicity director for Paramount Pictures, that Britain's surge in the industry may seriously threaten Hollywood's recognized markets. Since the infancy of the film industry, the California centre's continually improving technique has kept the American product to the forefront, and has withstood the challenge of the occasional production of merit from other countries. It is questionable, however, if the subject matter exploited by the industry has kept pace with the mechanical and scientific advances. "Hollywood, of course, is still turning out some first rate stories in celluloid. But the top-notch productions seem to be becoming increasingly fewer and further between. The mass output is not of a nature to commend itself to a public whose intelligence is higher than many of the offerings would suggest. This condition, of course, is realized by the thinking men in the film capital. They can be expected to do something about it before the murky inanities of some productions offend the customers. And if the challenge of British films inspires a higher standard for Hollywood, the competition that is offered will be of specific benefit to the industry as a whole.

SYMBOLIC—OF WHAT?

THERE MUST BE SOME DEEP SIGNIFI-cance which escapes us in the current practice of pouring a bottle of Atlantic water into the Pacific and a bottle of Pacific water into the Atlantic. We see hazily, the suggestion of intermingling of waters as a possible symbolism for an intermingling of ideas and sympathies between the two coasts of Canada, a sort of nebulous concept of fusion that does not quite jell. So many more attractive ways could be found for such interchanges. A native plant from British Columbia's ocean slope, for instance, planted on the seaboard of eastern Canada and a reciprocal gesture from the east would create a material emblem of the idea which seems to underlie the ocean-to-ocean bottle business. But the transfer of a relatively minute quantity of the Atlantic to the Pacific, and vice versa, seems to represent nothing so much as the transfer of a relatively minute quantity of the Atlantic to the Pacific, and little more. The tides off Cape Horn undoubtedly do the job much better.

Walter Lippmann

THE STRAIGHT WAY

AT THE weekend, Mr. Lewis, Mr. Whitney, and Mr. Johnston had brought the United States to a point where there was no good remedy for an intolerable situation. A general railroad strike on top of a general coal strike, and in the near future a general maritime strike, would be a combination of disasters which the nation could not sit out patiently and quietly. The government was compelled to act. It had no choice but to act. Yet there was no way it could act which does not do violence to the principles of liberty which the people cherish.

The dilemma has been imposed upon the U.S. because the law of the land on the subject of great general strikes is obsolete. The law does not outlaw these calamitous strikes. But the government had nevertheless to outlaw them. Lacking sound law to avert an intolerable condition, President Truman has had to improvise a bad law.

THE ROOT of the trouble lies in the fact that Messrs. Lewis, Whitney, and Johnston have failed or refused to recognize that though the law permitting these general strikes has not been formally repealed or amended, it has in fact been radically modified by usage, custom, and the will of the people. The right to strike so as to paralyze the nation is, no matter what the statutes say, not now a right which the government could permit Messrs. Whitney and Johnston to exercise. They could have preserved the right to call a general railroad strike. Once they exercised the right, there was no alternative but to take that right away from them.

They will have missed the meaning of what happened on Saturday if they think only about how violently and crudely they were deprived of their right to strike. The fundamental point is that they had to be deprived of the right to conduct a general railroad strike. A wiser, more constitutional measure to achieve this end can undoubtedly be worked out. But it will have to be a wise and constitutional measure which deprives them of the right to conduct such general strikes. It cannot be a measure which does not deprive them of that right. For if it is, and they again exercise the right, they will once again be met by drastic measures.

THIS is the fixed and fundamental point in the whole business—that the right to conduct general strikes is outlawed, and the real choice of the labor leaders is whether they will now recognize this fact or whether they will compel the government to spell it out in the form of drastic penalties.

This is not an agreeable choice. But they have to face it now because they were too reactionary to see in advance that a free society is governed not by the letter of its laws but by a social compact—a common understanding among the people—of which the laws are at best an imperfect expression. For a generation the railroads of the United States have been governed by a social compact which held that the railroads must run while management and labor argued out their differences, and somehow settled them.

This compact is the real law of the land, as Messrs. Whitney and Johnston learned on Saturday. They violated that compact. In violating it the whole structure of their statutory rights was broken, and even their constitutional rights were impaired. For all the rights of man are bound up together and rest finally on a social compact as to how men will in fact behave towards one another.

THE VIOLATION of the fundamental understanding about general strikes makes it necessary to write the understanding into statutory law. It would have been better to let the understanding develop by custom. But the big labor leaders have not allowed that to happen. So the Congress will have to legislate.

There are here two main ways it can proceed. The one way, which the Congress will be tempted to take, is to avoid the main issue—whether general strikes shall be outlawed—and then to engage in a complicated effort to outlaw them by indirection. This will generate measures which, as a result of the push and pull of politics, are too drastic to be enforceable or too weak to be effective.

The other way is to begin by the direct outlawry of general strikes in specific industries—such as the railroads, the coal mines, and primary public utilities. Then on that major premise, which could be declared by Congress immediately, a code for the settlement of disputes could be carefully and patiently worked out.

IF THE LEADERS of the big unions are wise in their own interest, they will see that by choosing this second way they will give up nothing they have not already lost. They have already lost the right to conduct general strikes. What happened Saturday would happen even more spectacularly if the same situation arose again. In accepting the principle that general strikes are outlawed, labor will merely be recognizing an accomplished fact. But by accepting this principle, they will be preserving much that they may otherwise lose: namely the opportunity to participate in the formulation of an industrial code which will rest not on the brute authority of the government but on the consent of the governed.

They will in this way, moreover, restore promptly something of great value to them which they have lost—the esteem and confidence which the railroad brotherhoods have long enjoyed and so justly deserved. Let them come forward as the sponsors of the principle of a full industrial peace, and they will yet confound the enemies of labor who are waxing fat and presumptuous on the mistakes which labor is making.

CANADIANS BELIEVE IN THESE TWO THINGS
LAW AND FREEDOM!

AGAIN AND AGAIN public opinion in Canada has confirmed the fact that the ordinary citizen has a deep-rooted and abiding belief in LAW and in FREEDOM.

He knows that under democracy law and freedom go together.

Against that background, what are the facts in the I.W.A. lumber strike?

1. The strike is admittedly illegal. (It was called by the I.W.A. without complying with Canada's laws on conciliation.)
2. The I.W.A. is demanding for an admitted minority the right to COMPEL the majority of workmen to join the union—or be fired.

Believing in the sanctity of law and in freedom of association as it does, what can the Canadian public think of a union that breaks the law on the one hand and demands, on the other, the right to invade the freedom of the individual by compelling ALL lumber workers to join and pay tribute to the union or lose their jobs?

'My Reputation'
 Today At Capitol

The moving story of a beautiful woman's desperate search for happiness is told in Warner Bros. latest film drama, "My Reputation," which opens tonight at the Capitol Theatre. Starring Barbara Stanwyck, the film features a company of supporting players including George Brent, Lucille Watson, Warner Anderson, John Ridgely and Eve Arden.

Adapted for the screen by Catherine Turney from the best-selling novel, "Instruct My Sorrows," by Clare Jaynes, "My Reputation" relates the saga of one woman's second chance at love and of the vicious scandal that brings heartache into her life and the life of her family. As Jess Drummond, attractive young widow, mother of two lovable boys, Barbara Stanwyck plays another highly dramatic role of the sort which aided her rise to fame.

YORK THEATRE

Although "The Wife of Monte Cristo," now at the York Theatre, is laid in Paris and there are seven nationalities represented in the cast, there is not a Frenchman in the picture.

John Loder, the star, is English; Lenore Aubert, Egon Brecher and director Edgar G. Ulmer are Czechs, Eva Gabor is Hungarian, Fritz Kortner is Austrian, Eduardo Ciannelli is Italian, Martin Kosleck and Fritz Feld are German and Charles Dingle and other members of the cast are American.

Radio Favorite In 'Stork Club'

Andy Russell, America's newest singing sensation of the air waves and the platters, makes his movie bow in Paramount's comedy-with-music, "The Stork Club," starring Betty's Hutton, and now entertaining audiences at the Atlas Theatre.

Andy proved such a red-hot favorite of the nation's record and radio fans that a call to sing and perform before the movie cameras became inescapable. Not that he tried to escape it. A dream of a young lifetime came true when producer B. G. DeSylva signed the popular vocalist to a contract and put him in the DeSylva production, "The Stork Club."

24-Hour Shifts On Pouring Concrete For Roofing Plant

Working 24 hours a day, two shifts of 12 men each are pouring concrete for the 12 bins which form part of the new roofing plant at the Sidney Roofing and Paper Company Ltd.

The bins are 55 feet high and "sliding forms" are being used in their construction, George Wheaton, contractor, explained. This is the same method used in constructing the grain elevator, and it is also used for high concrete chimneys.

Forms are four feet high, the concrete is poured in and as fast as the concrete hardens the forms are jacked up and more is poured, making a smooth, unbroken wall of concrete.

Mr. Wheaton estimated that the work, which started Monday, would be completed Saturday. If anything should happen to stop the pouring, it would ruin the job, which is being up at the rate of approximately eight feet a day.

The bins, which will be 40 feet deep, are designed to hold the mineral surface material used in roofing.

Estimated cost of the whole new roofing plant is $85,000.

Mark Kearley has written Mayor Percy George announcing the opening of the Little Centre for art, with an exhibition of Emily Carr paintings from June 2 to 21. The mayor and aldermen were invited to visit the exhibition June 12.

Memorial Approved To Sir James Douglas

The National Historic Sites and Monuments Board has approved a memorial to Sir James Douglas, second governor of Vancouver Island and first governor of British Columbia, as "The Father of British Columbia."

A bronze plaque is being prepared in eastern Canada to be erected in the Parliament Buildings, probably in the rotunda at the entrance to the Legislative Assembly hall.

'Work Together' Says Leader

"We have suffered much but we've got something big out of it," Lady Reading told an audience that filled the Crystal Ballroom at the Empress Hotel. "We've learned that it's not the person that matters, she continued, "it's the personality and the ability to do the job."

In a clear voice that rang with sincerity she explained that in the Women's Voluntary Services there were no ranks. The same uniform was used by all with no distinguishing marks.

"It was not exciting work," she said, "it really was domestic work on a national scale. Every woman in the organization had a job to do and she did it well, no matter how small, no matter how hard. Working shoulder to shoulder and combining all our efforts we accomplished much."

Lady Reading smiled proudly as she told her listeners that the lessons learned during war would be experimented with in the peace.

WORK FOR PEACE
"Every member of the W.V.S. is intensely conscious of the duty she owes her community and more and more we hope to enter phases of public life—not politically but municipally. By working together as we did in war we hope to be instrumental in building a safe and happy future for the children we fought so hard to save."

Speaking of the part played by Canadian women in helping the peoples of Britain Lady Reading said, "we of the W.V.S. were proud to be your stewards."

Interspersed with eye-witness stories—some humorous, some tragic but all pointing to the unbelievable courage of the "little people" of Britain she told of the depots in England where

In this number the duet will be sung by two promising young ladies, Miss Gael Beveridge, soprano, and Miss Betty Rainaldi, alto.

Miss Kathleen Paulin's offering will be the ever popular aria, "A-fo-e-lui," from "La Traviata," and "Romany Life" ("Fortune Teller"). Miss Jean Dumerton will sing "Let's" ("Summer"), by C. Chaminade, and Miss Evelyn McGonigle will offer "Ah, Mon Fils," from "The Prophet." Miss Irene Byatt, contralto, will sing "My Heart, at Thy Sweet Voice," from "Samson and Delilah." Thomas Crabbe, Victoria's outstanding baritone, who during this year's Vancouver Music Festival again won high honors, will sing "Eri Tu," from Verdi's opera, "A Masked Ball," and he also will be heard in duets with Misses E. McGonigle and K. Paulin. Other soloists will be Mesdames A. Prior and L. McDonald, Misses Rita Price, Gwendolyn Cox, Valdrada Speed, Donna Verquin, Nancy Humphreys and Florence Byatt. Entire proceeds in aid of Queen Alexandra Solarium. Tickets are obtainable at Spencer's Music Department and from members of the choir.

Dorothy Dix

Dear Dorothy Dix: Why is it that men do not fall in love with girls who are sincere and dependable, but who are not demonstrative. They seem to fall in love with girls who flatter them and make over them. Why is this?

WONDERING.

Answer: Well, sugar catches flies. We all have an insatiable appetite for sweet talk, and we are just naturally drawn to those who show that they like and admire us.

If a girl desires to attract men, she must know how to rub their fur the right way. She must learn how to flatter artistically. She must keep herself in an oh-wonderful, oh-marvelous attitude toward all they say. Men don't like cold, self-contained women. They like warm, impulsive women, women who show their feelings, especially when their feelings are about them.

Statistical Survey For Victoria Area

Householders in the Greater Victoria area will be asked to answer questions during the period from June 3 to June 12 by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, R. M. Kincaid, regional officer said today.

Greater Victoria is one of the areas included in a sample survey of the Canadian population being taken to obtain current estimates of the volume of employment, unemployment and other labor force information. The survey will cover approximately 25,000 households in about 100 selected cities or sample areas scattered across Canada.

The sampling method used in the labor force survey uses the most recent developments in statistical theory, Mr. Kincaid explained, in order to achieve both speed and efficiency in the sampling operations.

The survey will be carried out by official enumerators of the Dominion Bureau, affording credentials, who will interview a small fraction of the households in this area. All information given the enumerators is strictly confidential.

Some households will be interviewed several times at intervals.

Drama Festival
Attracts Interest

A great deal of interest is being shown in the forthcoming international drama festival which will be held in the Royal Victoria Theatre Aug. 5 to 10. In the national group, entries have been received from Chinese, Dutch, Norwegian, Belgian, Ukrainian and Negro groups, while Portland Civic Theatre, Vancouver Little Theatre, Quesnel Little Theatre and other representative groups will compete in the English group.

The festival, which is the first of its kind to be held in Canada, will be under the patronage of the Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia, Premier John Hart and other leading citizens of the province.

Three plays will be given each night of the week, with finals on Saturday night. Handsome trophies and individual prizes will be awarded in each group and will become the outright property of the winners.

It is expected that the festival will prove to be an outstanding tourist attraction and a unique event in the annals of Canadian drama.

Jobless Veterans
Still Decreasing

Further steady reduction in number of war veterans receiving out-of-work benefits from the Department of Veterans' Affairs was shown today in the monthly report of the department's Vancouver Island office.

The report showed 383 veterans receiving out-of-work benefits as of May 23, compared with 426 on April 23 and 520 on March 23.

At the same time, the report indicated an increase in volume of work of the department. Re-establishment credit payments in the month ending May 23 were $196,107, compared with $169,782 in the previous month. Number of callers at the offices in the Belmont Building was up from 5,382 to 5,620. Applications for re-establishment credit totaled 987, of which 848 were approved, and 779 cases were placed before the rehabilitation board.

Ambulance Field Day

St. John Ambulance Brigade annual field day will be held Saturday afternoon at Bay Street Armories. There will be teams from Cowichan Lake district, Vancouver central nursing division and Burnaby cadet division. Victoria and Oak Bay will supply the local entries. Three teams of junior boys from Victoria Central Junior High School and a senior men's team from the V.M.D. shipyards will be added features.

T. W. S. Parsons, O.B.E., commissioner of B.C. police, will officiate for formal opening of the competitions. Ald. Ed. Williams, acting mayor, will extend civil welcome to visitors and contestants.

W. C. Mainwaring, provincial commissioner, St. John Brigade, will present the trophies and prizes at conclusion of contests.

Dentists' Officers

At the May meeting of the Victoria Dental Society held at the Empress Hotel, Dr. T. D. Johnson was elected president for the coming year. Other officers elected were: President-elect, Dr. A. H. Gunning; secretary-treasurer, Dr. J. R. Turner; executive, Dr. T. H. Johns, Dr. H. C. Gill and Dr. S. Youlden.

Dr. A. Poyntz, chairman of the golf committee, presented cups to the winners of the annual golf tournament. Dr. J. D. Calvert won low gross cup; Dr. H. Gill won low net cup, and Dr. H. Turner won 24 handicap cup. Dr. W. A. MacDonald, retiring president, in his report, mentioned the fact that 10 new members had joined the society during the year and seven members had returned from active service.

Youth New Chief

New chief of the Nootka Indians is 18-year-old Ambrose Maquinna, following the death of his grandfather, Chief Napoleon Maquinna. The new chief is building a house on the shores of Friendly Cove and plans to marry in six months.

His ancestor, Maquinna the Great, was overlord of Nootka and Prince of Yuquot. The latter was the original name of Friendly Cove, scene of the first settlement and of conflict between Britain and Spain.

Naming chiefs by direct descent as in the case of Maquinna's heirs is unusual among coast Indians. The chief's eldest sister's son usually succeeds to the leadership.

YOUR cream soups and sauces... desserts and creamy entrees —take on an entirely new and luxurious character when you make them with double-rich Carnation Milk. They're smoother, richer, finer in flavor. It's easy to use Carnation—if the recipe calls for milk, use half Carnation, half water; if cream is called for, use Carnation undiluted as it pours from the can.

Carnation is just pure, whole, cows' milk, evaporated to double richness by removing part of the natural water, homogenized for smoothness, sterilized for absolute safety.

Ferriss Registers 8th Straight Pitching Win

Even Dave (Boo) Ferriss' severest critics agreed today the Boston Red Sox' sensational righthander was no mere first-year morning glory.

Five weeks ago, after the former air force sergeant was driven from the mound under a barrage of base hits for the second straight time, fears were expressed that Ferriss, who won 21 games last year in his first Big League campaign, might be in for a rough season. But Ferriss went on to roll up seven straight victories.

Yesterday he made it eight in a row by blanking Philadelphia Athletics, 2 to 0, to duplicate his 1945 performance when he won his first eight decisions.

The strapping 24-year-old southerner gave up only six scattered singles to enable the American League-leading Red Sox to retain their 6½-game margin over New York Yankees.

The Yanks called on their 42-year-old standby, Charley Ruffing to start off Washington's bid to oust them from second place, and old Ruffus responded with a brilliant three-hit 4 to 0 victory over the Senators.

DODGERS WIN

Southpaw Vic Lombardi became the first National League pitcher to record seven triumphs when he throttled New York Giants on five hits in pitching the pace-setting Brooklyn Dodgers to a 5 to 1 victory. Lombardi's win enabled the Dodgers to maintain their two-game margin over the St. Louis Cardinals.

The Cards, with pitcher Harry Moore collaborating, whipped Chicago Cubs, 5 to 2.

Detroit's Hal Newhouse joined Ferriss as the majors' only eight-game winners when he pitched over Cleveland Indians.

Garnet's Homer Gives Ciro's Nine Fastball Victory

Toad Garnet crashed into the fastball limelight Wednesday night when his first inning home run provided Ciro's with the two runs to defeat Hoyle-Brown 2 to 0.

It was a triumph which once again boosted the cafemen into the leadership both in the three-entry senior A men's circuit. Their record is only a single loss in five games. Second-place Hoyle-Brown have lost two in six.

Garnet's four-bag slug came at a time when Gar Taylor was on the initial sack.

HOYLE-BROWN DANGEROUS IN EIGHTH

For the remainder of the game it was a rugged pitching battle between Joe Bryant of Ciro's and Red Martin of the whole-salers, both of whom got good defensive support. Martin yielded seven hits and walked eight, while Hoyle-Brown got to Bryant for a quintette of safeties. He walked half a dozen. Hoyle-Brown got runners on the bags almost every inning but couldn't hit in the clutch. A brilliant bit of switching by Taylor in the eighth helped Hoyle-Brown's most serious threat to score. Taylor took Johnston's hit and immediately whipped the apple over to first for a double play. Sutton followed with a hit. Miliken walked but Battle couldn't connect with Bryant's offerings and the side was retired.

Large scores featured other games Wednesday night. Hudson's Bay girls traveled to Sidney where Marion Kennedy hurled them to a 13 to 0 shutout over the hometown unit. Men's senior B games saw Penguins take a 22 to 3 win over Stockers and Army and Navy vets defeat Oak Bay Wanderers 30 to 14. A juvenile game resulted in Duffy's Cafe defeating Hoyle-Brown 20 to 6.

Willows And Money By-Laws To Be Submitted In July

Three money by-laws which would call for the expenditure of $433,141 for street lighting, waterworks, and street improvements, will be ready for submission to the ratepayers within the next six weeks, City Solicitor A. J. Patton, said today. At the same time the by-law to sell Willows Fairgrounds for $86,000 to Colwood Racing Association and put the money into the Arena fund will be submitted, he said.

Draft of the by-laws is nearing completion Mr. Patton said, and they must first be passed by the City Council before submission to the ratepayers. Following council passage ratepayers must be given a minimum of 10 days notice before voting.

The street lighting by-law calls for an expenditure of $109,910, which is to provide adequate illumination of all residential streets in the city, in accordance with a five-year street lighting program. The money asked for by the by-law is to be spent as follows: $43,200 for 1,200 street lighting units; $2,100 on sub-stations; $9,610 on transformers; $22,800 for labor; $29,800 for other supplies such as poles and copper wire; and $2,400 for a line construction truck.

The streets improvement by-law proposes an expenditure of $210,920 on six different projects. There is a possibility that another $91,000 project may be included but Mr. Patton said it was considered unlikely for this year. Of the $112,311 being asked for waterworks, $82,530 is to be spent on replacement and enlargement of mains within the city of Victoria. Other expenditures to be made are $3,619 on mains in Victoria West; $16,967 for mains in Esquimalt; and $10,094 for replacement of worn out mains outside the municipal limits.

Max Ontkane and Mrs. Mildred A. Poulton, proprietors of the Ritz Millinery Store, were convicted in city police court today of a War-time Prices and Trade Board charge that they sold nylon stockings at higher than ceiling prices and were remanded until Monday for sentence. F. E. Salter, W.P.T.B. investigator, testified the store sold stockings with a sales price of $1.75 for $1.95 and others with a sales price of $1.50 for $1.75.

Little Boy Drowns Near Former Scene Of Gorge Tragedy

Efforts of a fire department in halator crew working for an hour and a half failed to revive four-year-old Ernest Orville Towns, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Towns, 1017 Catherine Street, who drowned in the waters of the Gorge at the foot of Styles Street, late Wednesday afternoon. It was in the same location that two brothers near the age of little Ernest, drowned while at play a year ago last January.

Coroner E. C. Hart said this morning no inquest would be held in connection with the death as there was no evidence as to how the mishap occurred. There was no doubt in his mind that the drowning was accidental, he said.

SAW BODY FLOATING

The little boy's body was seen floating in the water by Bill Kellett, 14 years, 129 Powderly Street, and William Hibbert, 13, 713 Connaught Street.

Police and the fire department crew consisting of Deputy Fire Chief Robert Brindle and Firemen Jim Bayliss and Carl Mills, were called by Jack McGregor, 1235 Styles Street, shortly before 4.

Kellett and Hibbert, assisted by Ricky McVie, 13, 623 Belmont Ave., got a boat and brought the body out of the water from a short distance off the steep, rocky shore.

Artificial respiration was given by Mrs. Francis Elcote, 2224 Hampshire Terrace, and Mrs. H. Sigurdson, 521 Verne Terrace, until the pulmotor arrived.

City police Constables James Strong, John Mason and Alex Nichol, assisted the firemen, and Dr. E. L. McNeven also was called to the scene. At 5:30 the doctor pronounced life extinct.

Arthur Towns, the little boy's father, who is a dairy truck driver, was summoned to the scene and watched the efforts of the inhalator crew to revive his child. The little boy is believed to have fallen into the water from a raft near the spot where his body was found.

South America A Passion With Him

The person we have in mind has always yearned to travel through South America. He knows more about Costa Rica, Peru and Brazil than about Canada.

For six years he has been studying Spanish and adding regularly to his savings account at The Huron & Erie. So, when restrictions on travel are removed, he can fly south and see for himself.

We don't know what your greatest desire is for future time; but whatever it may be, it's reasonably certain to cost money. And the sure way to acquire money is through planned saving. When your savings account is at The Huron & Erie your money grows at higher-than-ordinary interest (2%). Chequing privileges can be arranged.

A General Gets His Discharge

Maj. Gen. R. O. Alexander being "paid off."

One of Canada's best known soldiers, Maj. Gen. Ronald Oke-ken Alexander, C.B., D.S.O., went through the M.D. 11 discharge wing in Vancouver Wednesday. Gen. Alexander lives at 2551 Beach Drive.

Born in Ceylon in 1888, Gen. Alexander joined the 5th Regiment Royal Scots, N.P.A.M. (now Black Watch), where he served in the ranks from 1907 to 1908. He was commissioned a lieutenant in the 3rd Regiment, now Victoria Rifles of Canada, the same year, and joined the Royal Canadian Regiment as a permanent soldier in 1910.

As G.O.C. in C. Pacific command at the time of Pearl Harbor it was Gen. Alexander's job to take all necessary measures to alert and safeguard Canada's Pacific coast at the time of the Japanese attack. In direct control at the time he was able to alert all defences in an extremely short time, and carry out necessary measures during the first few hectic and uncertain days.

A captain in 1915, Gen. Alexander became a brevet lieutenant-colonel in 1916. Back in the permanent force as a lieutenant-colonel in 1920, he was later a temporary brigadier and became a brigadier in September, 1939, rising to major-general in July, 1940.

His staff appointments include general staff officer grade one 1920-1924, professor of tactics Royal Military College, 1924-1927, general staff officer grade one 1928-1935, district officer commanding M.D. 7 1935, M.D. 4 1935-1938, M.D. 2 1938-1940, general officer commanding in chief Pacific command 1940-1942, inspector-general central Canada 1942-1944 and inspector-general western Canada 1944-1945. He has recently been on retirement leave for several months.

A son, Flt.-Lt. James Alexander, was killed while in action with the R.A.F. in 1941. Another son, Ronald, lives at home.

Gen. Alexander is one man who can't go "back to civvy street" as he was never a civilian. Since he took up residence here has been chairman of several community enterprises.

Cars Transferred

Number of used automobiles advertised or displayed for sale has visibly decreased in Victoria since War-time Prices and Trade Board ordered that cars advertised for sale must be sold, with or without trade-in, to the first person offering the advertised price.

But a Prices Board official and a reputable Victoria motor dealer said today there had been no decrease in the number of used cars changing hands.

"The government has a huge job trying to guard against used cars—or any merchandise—being sold at more than ceiling prices when buyers and sellers are in collusion," the motor dealer said.

The Prices Board official suggested that since the new order was published, more persons might have been doing business with established dealers.

The dealer, however, commented: "We can't get any used cars. We can't get them even as trade-ins on new cars, because the priority-holders don't have cars to trade in."

In a quick survey, only two used automobiles could be found advertised for sale in Victoria today.

A special meeting of the City Council will be held Friday afternoon to give first reading to the by-law setting up a five-man board to deal with transportation matters.

Elderly Landlords Air Complaints In Rental Court

"I hope your conscience isn't hurting you," a tenant told his landlord in Judge L. A. Hanna's court of rental appeal here today. The landlord had just finished telling the court the tenant who occupied a suite in his apartment house kept late hours, used abusive language.

"We're old people and can't stand it," said the landlord. "I'm 81 and my wife is 78." The tenant told Judge Hanna that he worked eight hours a day in a beer parlor and that when he came home at 11:30 he was too tired to keep late hours. He said that when his daughter had come to live in the apartment the landlord had tried to raise the rent.

Another elderly landlord told the court that an upstairs tenant used "abominable" language on the telephone and invaded his apartment talking loudly while drunk. He said the tenant had annoyed his wife who was ill and had told them it was his home, too.

"Are you a medical doctor?" the tenant asked the landlord while cross-examining as to the charges about drunkenness.

He also told Judge Hanna that he worked as a first aid man and that his clothes became saturated with the smell of ether and alcohol. He added that he was going to move as soon as an apartment promised him became available.

Judge Hanna reserved judgment in all cases.

Want First Graders Registered June 15

Registration of all children who will be starting either primary or Grade 1 classes in school this September should be made by parents with the school in the district before June 15. Miss Marion James, primary supervisor for Greater Victoria, said today.

Registration forms are now being distributed through the schools and parents are asked to fill them out immediately, as it will assist in getting organization work at the schools done before school opening.

Children are eligible for admission to Grade 1 who will be six years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1946. They may enter pre-primary classes in one of the eight schools providing this type of work, if they are five years of age on or before Dec. 31, 1946. Beginners are required to start school attendance within two weeks of school opening, she pointed out, and after that date no beginners will be admitted to Greater Victoria schools until the following September.

Children starting Victoria schools may obtain free dental examination at the school dental clinic in the west building of the Central Junior High School from June 17 to 21, from 9 to 11 in the morning or 1 to 3 in the afternoon. It is the hope of the School Board, Miss James said, to extend this service to the rest of the school district as soon as possible.

One hundred and eighty of the children starting Grade 1 this year will have had pre-primary experience, she said.

Ask Plane Passage Include Taxi Fares

A resolution asking that air travel fares between Victoria and Vancouver should include taxi transportation to and from the airports to the cities was passed by the business, trade and establishment committee of the City Council at a meeting Wednesday afternoon, Ald. B. J. Gadsden, chairman, reported.

It was pointed out in the discussion that this should be accepted as a general principle all over the Dominion, but in these areas particularly the airports are situated so far from the cities that it adds an unfair burden of cost to the air transport passenger when he must pay taxi fare in addition to his plane fare. The City Council, as well as the councils of Vancouver, Oak Bay, Saanich and Esquimalt, will be asked to urge air transport companies and the minister of transport in Ottawa to give favorable consideration to this suggestion. In addition the Chamber of Commerce here, the Vancouver Board of Trade, R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and G. R. Peakes, M.P., will be asked for their support.

A fire which broke out in the kitchen of the Knights of Pythias Hall, 1515 Broad Street, shortly after 8 Wednesday night, damaged the roof and interior of the building. Osgood's furniture store, below the hall, was damaged by water, but firemen minimized the loss by covering the store contents with canvas. Lodge equipment escaped damage.

Sale of the flock of sheep at Macdonald Park was approved for A. C. Stewart of Abbotsford for $300.

The monthly off-season meeting of the Y.M.C.A. Public Speakers' Club was held at the home of the lecturer, Frank Paulding, 5041 Bay Road. Tentative plans were made for next season's activities, to commence in the early autumn.

No Decision Yet At Powell River

POWELL RIVER, B.C. (CP)—A mass meeting of A.F.L. employees of the closed Powell River Company newspaper mill recessed briefly shortly before noon today after failing to come to a decision on whether to disregard a C.I.O. "hot" label on the mill's pulp logs.

Some 1,600 workers met for 2½ hours, but could not decide on whether to walk through the C.I.O. picket lines and be described as "scabs" or to refuse to go through the lines and thus break their agreement with the Powell River Pulp and Paper Company.

Dies In City Today

Mrs. Charlotte McNeill, 1285 Johnson Street, a resident of Victoria since 1872, died in St. Joseph's Hospital today at the age of 91.

Born in Middlesex, Ontario, Mrs. McNeill was the widow of Frederick J. McNeill. She leaves one daughter, Mrs. George Robinson, in Victoria, and several grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel at 1:30 Saturday afternoon. Interment will take place in the family plot, Ross Bay Cemetery.

Ceremony To Mark Oregon Treaty Signing

A fitting ceremonial involving the use of color guards is being worked out to observe the centenary June 15 of the signing of the Oregon Boundary Treaty. The ceremony, in which Canadian and American army bands will participate, will be held at the Peace Arch Park on the U.S.-Canada boundary near Blaine.

Plans are being made for a radio hook-up covering both the United States and Canada. The event is being sponsored by the British Columbia Historical Association, the Washington State Historical Society and the Peace Arch Association, in co-operation with the governments of British Columbia and Washington State.

Service organizations on both sides of the boundary have accepted invitations to send color parties to the celebration. The band of the 2nd Division, recently returned to Fort Lewis, Wash., from foreign service, will represent the U.S. army and the headquarters band of the Western Command will represent the Canadian army in the celebration.

Guests of honor will be representatives attending the World Maritime Labor Conference at Seattle. These guests will be flown to the Peace Arch for the celebration, to attend the celebration and dinner tendered by the citizens of Blaine.

The celebration will mark the centennial of the signing of the treaty which fixed the boundary between the United States and

M.P. Advises Envoy Mind Own Business

NEW YORK (CP)—Baron Inverchapel, the former Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, maintains his right not to "mind his own business" but in the same breath defends those in Canada who accused him of meddling in domestic matters when he asserted Monday that Canada's national flag should contain a Union Jack symbol of the Dominion's ties with Britain.

The new British ambassador to the United States arrived in New York Wednesday en route to Washington unperturbed by the stir raised in the Dominion concerning his comment in Halifax Monday on the design of the new Canadian flag which a parliamentary committee is considering. He said stoutly: "I still think it should have a Union Jack."

Of the remark dropped in the Canadian House of Commons Tuesday night by Dr. Pierre Cauchon, Lib. Portneuf, Que., that he should "mind his own business," the ambassador said: "I've often been told to mind my own business, but I never do."
